

Alex Denja
SVP CFO/COO
National Equity Fund, Inc.

Alex Denja is National Equity Fund, Inc.'s senior vice president and CFO. Since joining NEF in 2001, Denja's forward-looking and proactive perspective has helped create the success from which both NEF and its investors benefit.

His experience and background as a financial manager for BP and his years at NEF provide Denja with a comprehensive understanding of many areas of business and the ability to communicate with a variety of financial professionals.

Denja's career began as an auditor for KPMG followed by a position as a financial analyst with marchFIRST, Inc. He left NEF in 2008 to accept a position as financial manager for BP before returning in 2010.

Denja has a bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Illinois-Champaign/Urbana and an MBA from Northwestern's University's Kellogg School of Management. Denja is also a CPA.