Bryon Olsen Director of Corporate Real Estate, North America Willis Towers Watson

Bryon Olsen leads the Corporate Real Estate team for the North America geography – which encompasses real estate strategy, transactions and negotiations as well as workplace strategy, design and construction of office space - for Willis Towers Watson, a leading global advisory, broking and solutions company with roots dating back to 1828. The company designs and delivers solutions that manage risk, optimize benefits, cultivate talent, and expand the power of capital to protect and strengthen institutions and individuals. Willis Towers Watson has 40,000 employees in over 500 offices and services clients in 140 countries around the globe. Bryon came to Willis Towers Watson in 2014, and was the Senior Project Manager leading the Project Delivery and Construction Management team for North America before assuming the duties of his current role. As part of his ongoing efforts for Willis Towers Watson, Bryon has helped develop and drive a comprehensive change to the workplace program within the organization, focusing his efforts on both the new workplace designs and the change management program.

Prior to joining Willis Towers Watson, Bryon was a project manager for a leading Nashville based general contractor and construction management firm with 8 years of experience in construction and project management. Bryon served 6 years as an Active Duty Army Officer and continues to serve in the Army National Guard. Bryon holds the designation of Masters of Corporate Real Estate with a specialty in Workplace Strategy and has completed the LEED Accredited Professional credentialing.
